equipped with 30 mm guns which are better amd heavier than those on Indian Coast Guard ships as reportedly observed by the Director General, Coast Guard on June 27, 1990;

(b) if so, what is the present strength of Indian Coast Guard ships and the guns on them, as compared to those of their counterparts in Pakistan; and

(c) what is the scheme for upgrading and augmenting the Indian Coast Guards fleet equipment so as to be able to guard the coastal belt effectively?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF DEFENCE (DR. RAJA RAMANNA): (a) and (b) The recently acquired Pakistani Maritime Agency vessels are equipped with modern 30 mm guns. Our Coast Guard vessels are equipped with the older 40/60 Bofors guns. The strength of Coast Guard Fleet and their fire power are determined according to the roles assigned to the Coast Guard vessels.

(c) The augmentation of Coast Guard Fleet and its modernisation are undertaken in accordance with the Coast Guard Development Five Year Plans.
